Making the most of your opportunities

All Saints’ College prides itself on being a learning community, where all members of the College’s community participate together in a journey of life-long learning. Part of the journey does not just involve the academic study that happens in the classroom but the wide variety of other learning experiences and opportunities that are offered. Often these experiences involve members of our community as mentors such as parents coaching sports teams. We are lucky at All Saints’ to have such great support of the school community and our Spring Fair is a testament of how everyone bands together to help.

School is meant to be challenging as without challenges there are no rewards. The great part about school-life at All Saints’ College is the fact there are so many different aspects of the curriculum and co-curricular programme that everyone can be provided with a challenge and be engaged in something that suits their interests and style of learning. All students have the opportunity to excel in their chosen field of interest. Our sports programme provides opportunities for those who enjoy a physical challenge, our academic program provides the mental challenge and our music and drama programmes provides avenues for those that are more creatively inclined. What is important is that our students make the most of all these opportunities presented to them and give everything a go. They do not need to be experts at everything and they may not find all activities easy. All things in life cannot always be easy but if the students do not try everything they will possibly miss out on something they really enjoy. I encourage students to take an active role in the full-life of the school and to enjoy the challenge.

Life may not always be the party we hoped for, but while we are here we might as well dance. (Anonymous)
