On Sunday May 6th 2007 - the 30th anniversary of Marsden’s closing - a special MOG Reunion was held at Bathurst.

In perfect autumn weather the day began with a church service celebrated by the All Saints’ College Chaplain at Holy Trinity Church, Kelso. The church was packed to almost overflowing for the very moving service featuring the Marsden Psalm, hymns and readings.

Over 140 of those present then moved across for luncheon in the All Saints’ College Dining Hall where reminiscences and ‘catch-up’ chat were very much the order of the day. It was very pleasing to see former teachers and the last Headmistress of Marsden Mrs Kate Gould (Chivers) joining the Old Girls. Current students dressed in old Marsden uniforms greeted the guests and assisted in the Hall. We are grateful to them and to the All Saints’ College Head of College, Ms Jenny Williams, for her hospitality to us.

During the afternoon a visit to Marsden proved an emotional time of remembering as the Old Girls were given the freedom to wander through the buildings, chapel and well-kept grounds. The time capsule, which was laid in 1975 at Marsden, has been moved over to All Saints’ College and can be located on the Senior Lawn. It is to be opened in September 2025.

As one Old Girl wrote “It was a magical time of reunion and remembrance” and another MOG summed it up by saying “The Marsden spirit is alive and well!”

In all it was a splendid and successful day that will live in our memories.

(Helen Baber)
Greetings to all Bathurstians. I trust that many of you on the land benefited from the recent rains and that improved prosperity is just around the corner.

Since my last report in February, the OBU Committee has met twice, in March and July. The AGM will be held this year on September 1 at the College and I urge as many members as possible to attend. Last year’s attendance at the AGM only just constituted a quorum of members so I am anxious that future AGM’s attract greater numbers so that a much wider cross-section of views is available. Remember, it is your OBU, not the Committee’s.

As I reported in the February VIM, a major recent initiative has been the formation of a Sub-Committee to look into the viability of updating the College’s history. Sub-Committee members include Rodney Templeman (Convenor), Tim Sargeant, Chris Morgan, Memory Sanders, Helen Baber, Bruce Clydsdale, Trevor Press, Rachel McMahon and your President. I’m pleased to announce that Chris Morgan has recently agreed to be the Project Co-ordinator and that progress is underway with the preparation of a time line and budget. An archive room for storage of information and records has been set aside by the College for which we are most thankful. In due course, we will be seeking the support of all members to assist with this significant undertaking, remembering that the current College History ends in 1963! In the meantime, we would welcome any ideas, suggestions and contributions from members.

The Finance Sub-committee under Treasurer, David Provost has been most diligent in improving the financial position of the OBU and reserves are now close to the minimum corpus prescribed by the Constitution. Members should be aware that income from the funds invested provides the revenue needed to meet the operating costs of the OBU.

The Committee has recently agreed to fund a third OBU scholarship worth $1,000 per annum and has extended the tenure to three years for students entering Year 10. Recipients must be children or grandchildren of current OBU members, be of good character and demonstrate a preparedness to contribute to the life of the College and an interest in the OBU when they leave school.

The major social event was the Marsden Reunion held on May 6 to mark the 30th anniversary of the closure of Marsden School. More than 100 Old Girls of Marsden were in attendance and from all accounts, a most successful day was experienced, full of recollections and reminiscences of bygone days. Another successful dinner was held at Dubbo on Saturday, 24 March attended by some 50 members and partners and my thanks are due to the organising committee and for the contribution by Dubbo Branch to the OBU finances. Plans are well in hand for the Nyngan Dinner for Saturday, 4 August which is being arranged by Dawn and Barry Lamph. We are still seeking a champion to help with the arrangements for a Sydney function. The last one was held more than two years ago. I would ask any volunteers to get in touch with me (9449 5242) or the Secretary, Rachel McMahon (6331 3911)

Volume 3 of the History of All Saints College is being written in 2007-2008

Recently the OBU announced its intention to publish a new volume of the history of the school bringing the All Saints’ College story up to date. I have been invited to lead this project and I am calling for your reminiscences and anecdotes particularly, but not exclusively if you were at school, or connected in any way, in the 1960s or later. The more you write the clearer the history will be. Please write down some memories and send them to me: Christopher Morgan, President, Bathurst Historical Society, PO Box 280, Bathurst, NSW, 2795 or email obu@saints.nsw.edu.au

Leadership Tour of Israel

All Saints’ College Chaplain, The Reverend Paul Woodhart, took part in a Leadership Tour of Israel for two weeks in January. There were 30 other clergy and lay ministers. Lucy, Father Paul’s daughter, a former All Saints’ College student, accompanied him.

The tour was designed to give the participants an introduction to the main holy sites of Israel. These included Galilee, Jerusalem, Bethlehem and Nazareth. For all who went it was a delight to read the Bible in the land in which it was written, and to see the places where Jesus walked.

It was a challenge to be confronted with the Israeli-Palestinian conflict. It was also an education to be part of the growing state of Israel. Because of the news of the conflicts it is reported that the tourist numbers are down, yet in the places toured there was little evidence of violence. This picture was taken in the old city of Jerusalem, along the Via Dolorosa, the Way of the Cross.

This is Father Paul’s third trip to Israel and he plans to organise a pilgrimage from Bathurst next January.

Check out All Saints’ new website

All Saints’ College launched their new website in February 2007. Go to www.saints.nsw.edu.au to view up-to-date information on the College. The OBU also has a page on the site with information on upcoming events, reunions, current and previous OBU VIMs and a listing of OBU memorabilia items for sale.
Special dedication

On the afternoon of Wednesday 25th April (ANZAC Day) at the College Chapel a special dedication took place. A plaque in honour of Clive Wentworth Thompson was dedicated by our Diocesan Bishop, The Right Reverend Richard Hurford OAM. Clive was a student of All Saints’ from 1897 to 1902, when the boys’ school was at the present Bathurst High School site.

Clive trained as a doctor and when World War I was declared he joined the Army Medical Corps. His war service was outstanding and he was with the First Battalion on the first day of the Gallipoli landing. Apart from one short rest period he remained there throughout the campaign. He served with distinction in Egypt and France. Clive developed the concept of forward post medical stations, the forerunner of the ‘MASH’ style facilities. Returning to Sydney he practised at the Royal Alexandria Children’s and Crown Street Women’s Hospitals. After achieving the degree of Master of Surgery, Clive practised in Bathurst, Hamilton and Newcastle.

When his son Bill was 9, Clive died in Sydney. It was very moving to hear Bill give the address on his father’s life and achievements. The family has kept its tradition of involvement with All Saints’, as Bill and his wife Sue had two daughters, Sally and Belinda, who both studied here. I had the privilege of baptising Belinda’s son, Clive’s great-grandson, in the chapel in April, 2006.

The plaque, on the south wall of the chapel, will be an inspiration to many.

The Reverend Paul Woodharc

One of the great strengths of an ASC education is the broad opportunities that abound within our academic and co-curricular programmes. Students are exposed to a variety of academic disciplines and enriching experiences within the framework of the College environment.

Last year we introduced Dance within our senior electives. A small class of girls took the subject under the guidance of Jodie Griffin. Last week I was privileged to witness their HSC performances. The girls presented dances they had choreographed and produced themselves with other dancers, as well as their own dance performance. I was impressed by the maturity of the works and the complexity of concepts explored in each of the choreographed pieces.

I also had the pleasure to witness the Year 12 Drama HSC performances. Once again the standard of the group performances was particularly high and the students demonstrated great insight in their individual pieces. It is exciting to see students coming to grips with life issues within the dramatic forum and presenting their thoughts and feelings through this medium.

The Year 12 Music Soiree treated the College community to some fabulous performances from our HSC Music students. This is always a spectacular evening; the musical feast complemented by the culinary treats prepared by our Hospitality students.

Let me encourage you, if you have the opportunity, to come and see what our students are doing today. I am confident they will not only impress you, but lift your eyes once again from the mundane to appreciate the beauty of music, dance, drama, great food and many other uplifting experiences.

Jessica receives Premier’s Award

On Monday 19th February I had the honour of representing Jessica McCleary at the Premier’s Awards for Academic Excellence in the 2006 HSC.

These awards are presented to students who achieve Band 6 results (over 90%) in 10 HSC examination units. Jessica achieved top band results in Advanced English, Extension 1 English, Legal Studies, Modern History, Ancient History and Extension History. The ceremony took place at the Darling Harbour Convention Centre where 804 students out of the 67,000 HSC candidates assembled to receive their awards. The Premier of NSW was unable to attend the presentation but he was represented by the Minister for Education, Carmel Tebbutt, who spoke about the respect with which the HSC is held both within Australia and internationally.

The awards are a significant recognition of academic excellence and All Saints’ College congratulates Jessica on her achievement.

Former All Saints’ College boy Bobby Gibbes is remembered as an “air ace who was born to fly”. He was one of Australia’s most colourful wartime characters and was a household name during and after the war. During his life, he earnt the Distinguished Service Order and Distinguished Flying Cross.

When World War II started, Bobby became an air cadet and by June 1940 he was a pilot officer in the RAAF. He cheated to gain entry to the airforce as he was slightly shorter than the required minimum. He also deliberately messed up his bomber pilot training to ensure he got a fighter pilot posting.

In May 1941, Bobby joined No. 3 Squadron in North Africa and became the longest serving commander of the squadron. He returned to Australia in 1943 to help with its defence and suffered burns and injuries when his Spitfire crashed on a training flight. He was treated in hospital by Red Cross volunteer Jeannine Ince, whom he later married in December 1944.

In May 1941, Bobby joined No. 3 Squadron in North Africa and became the longest serving commander of the squadron. He returned to Australia in 1943 to help with its defence and suffered burns and injuries when his Spitfire crashed on a training flight. He was treated in hospital by Red Cross volunteer Jeannine Ince, whom he later married in December 1944.

Bobby was one of the eight senior RAAF officers involved in the ‘Morotai Mutiny’ in April 1945 when they resigned their commissions in protest at what they considered a move to sideline them from the main fighting theatre against the Japanese. They were persuaded to withdraw their resignations but Bobby was court-martialled for, of all things, smuggling three bottles of scotch whisky into his quarters. He was, however, credited with shooting down 12 enemy aircraft.

After the war Bobby worked as a stock and station agent in Coonamble until he had to fly a light aircraft to the Western Highlands (Papua New Guinea). During the trip he noticed the need for air transport in the region and decided to start an airline (Gibbes Sepik Airways). He sold Sepik Airways in 1958, started a coffee business and then converted his house in Goroka into the Bird of Paradise Hotel.

When he returned to Australia in 1975, he had left a legacy that gave the indigenous population of Papua New Guinea a foundation in key businesses: air transport, vast coffee plantations and the biggest hotel chain in the Western Highlands.

In the 1970s, he single-handedly sailed a 12.8m catamaran from Southampton to Sydney and when he was 80 he built a licensed aerobatic Cri Cri aeroplane, which he flew until he was 85.

In 1994, Bobby wrote and published his memoirs, “You Live But Once”, and was awarded a Medal of the Order of Australia (OAM) in 2004.

Bobby Gibbes was the Guest Speaker at the All Saints’ Speech Day in 1995.

Bobby died in Mona Vale Hospital from a stroke on April 11th this year, a few weeks short of his 91st birthday.

Story compiled from reports in the Western Advocate (Bathurst) and the Sydney Morning Herald.
THE School of St Jude, in the Tanzanian town of Arusha, is a place for the poorest of poor children.

The school’s goal is simple - “fighting poverty through education” - and it is named after the Patron Saint of Hopeless Causes.

Bathurst couple Jock and Sue Bidwell are making preparations to travel to Tanzania and volunteer their services at the school.

Mr Bidwell, head of the junior school at All Saints’ College for the past 18 years, will be mentoring teachers as well as teaching. Mrs Bidwell will work as a teachers’ aide and help with the sponsorship program.

Their experience is destined to be life changing.

The inspiration for the journey came from the Bidwells’ niece, Anne Gelao, who has volunteered at the school.

The Bidwills thought about it, and decided to take up the opportunity.

“We will stay for at least a year, possibly a few more,” Mr Bidwell said.

They have not made any plans to return to Australia.

“We will see where the road takes us,” he said, with a warm smile.

Mrs Bidwell is also excited about the journey.

“It will be a very steep learning curve and a completely different experience,” she said.

According to Mr Bidwell, children stand at the gate of the School of St Jude every morning, hoping to get in.

“Those that do are the poorest of the poor, often having no cement or glass in their one-room houses.”

Only one child is accepted from a household so that more families may be reached by the School of St Jude.

Each year the school expands in size and, when a student is selected, volunteers at the school help to find an Australian family to sponsor that child.

The school was started by Australian woman Gemma Sisia in 2002 with just $10, a couple of friends, and the help of her local Rotary Club. It now has 850 students, 60 teachers and 200 staff.

Mr Bidwell says he is excited by the coming adventure and is looking on the experience as “a window of opportunity”.

All Saints’ is supporting Mr and Mrs Bidwell’s mission.

Mr Bidwell will leave the junior school in good order and what he describes as “a professional and dedicated staff supported by an enthusiastic parent group”.

Greg Standen honoured for bravery

Former All Saints’ College student and long-serving Chifley Rural Fire Service community educator Greg Standen has received a Commissioners’ Commendation for Bravery.

Greg accepted the award from RFS Acting Commissioner Rob Rogers at RFS headquarters Homebush Bay for his heroics last year when he dragged a 44-year-old man from almost certain death in a Lithgow flat fire.

Mr Standen was driving to Westmead for the Greater Western Area Health Service patient transport service on Tuesday, September 12 when he approached traffic lights near Lithgow McDonald’s and saw smoke billowing from a block of flats.

“There was a man in the apartment saying there’s another man in his flat on the first floor,” Mr Standen said.

“We came to a security door but somehow between the two of us we used our combined force to get it open.

“I yelled ‘get down’ when the door opened, knowing there’d be a lot of smoke. He was standing and got a gutful of smoke.

“I crawled into the smoke-filled flat, searching, feeling with my fingers. I felt a jumper on the unconscious man, pulled him outside, felt for a pulse, took him down to the ground floor, fresh air and a better environment.”

Mr Standen said his training since joining the Evans Shire Rural Fire Service 25 years ago, made him respond as he did that night, adding “everyone learns from childhood, get down low and go, go, go”.

From past experiences, Mr Standen said he’d attended many bad accidents and numerous fire emergencies. He knew every second that it took to break down the door and find the man could possibly mean the difference between life and death.

“It was completely black. I couldn’t see a thing,” Mr Standen said. “In all my years with the RFS I’ve never had to rescue anybody from a burning house.”

Mr Standen didn’t think twice about entering the burning building, saying he “went on autopilot, knowing you’ve got to get them out.”

Jacqui L’Estrange attended All Saints’ from 1996-1999. After finishing Year 12 at All Saints’ in 1999 she took a GAP year at Sexey’s in the UK and then returned to Bathurst to complete a Bachelor of Communications at Charles Sturt University. From there Jacqui moved to Sydney to work on various magazine publications, but with the realisation she was moving back to the country (Jacqui is originally from Condobolin and will soon marry a Tottenham boy - a Scots Bathurst boy no less!) she started to look into career options as a journalist in the bush.

This led to the establishment of her company Evolve Publishing which produces style magazine - a bi-monthly women’s lifestyle magazine for country NSW. Style magazine not only focuses on fashion and beauty, but on the important issues affecting women in regional areas with features and profiles on their lifestyles, experiences and aspirations.

The magazine is available at most newsagents in your local area, and chances are you’ll see someone you know in the Social Scene pages.

MARRIED AT THE NOVOTEL
Margaret Baseley (ASC 1988 - 1996) and Ross Stuart were married on Easter Sunday 8 April 2007 at The Novotel, Brighton-Le-Sands. A couple of ASC friends attended the wedding including Janice Chung, with Vanessa Hallaj (nee Brown) acting as bridesmaid.

Margie currently works as an Executive Assistant in Project Management, Ross is a Senior Software Developer who grew up in the southern suburbs of Sydney.

ASC OLD BOY PROPOSED ON THE ICE
All Saints’ College Old Boy and ex-teacher Greg Tucker and Sandra Matiszik exchanged wedding vows and became husband and wife in the gardens of the Bathurst Convention and Function Centre recently.

The ceremony was attended by 140 guests from Germany, Spain and throughout Australia.

Family members played important roles during the black and white penguin-theme wedding.

Sandra’s attendants included Eva-Marie, Karl and Markus Matiszik, while Greg’s attendants were Andrew, Alex and Cassie Tucker.

The happy couple first met while co-ordinating Bread on the Bridge, with the groom proposing while camping on the ice in Antarctica.

The happy couple will make their home in Bathurst.

SAM BIDWELL MARRIES

THE marriage of Sam and Klara Bidwell proved to be worth twice the celebration, with the couple following up their recent ceremony in Germany with one in Bathurst in October 2006.

Sam, the son of long-serving head of All Saints’ Junior School Jock Bidwell, was school captain at the senior school in 1998.

Following his university studies in Sydney, Sam has worked in London for the last two years.

Wife Klara comes from the Bavarian village of Kulmbach in Germany.

The couple was married in September 2006 in Klara’s home country.

Recently arriving back in Australia, Sam and Klara invited friends and family to attend a special ceremony in Sam’s home town.

Sam and Klara had their marriage blessed at the All Saints’ College Chapel by Reverend Paul Woodhart, a long-time friend of the Bidwell family.

Afternoon tea followed, with guests enjoying a celebration with the happy couple in the college grounds.

A reception was held at Crowded House Cafe with entertainment by Heatwave, including Doug Rowe.

Sam played the drums in one of Doug’s albums.

Married at Hydro Majestic
Vanessa Hill (ASC 1988-1993) married Stephen Wynn on the 7th April 2007 at Mt Victoria with the reception held at the Hydro Majestic in Black Heath.
Stephen & Vanessa Wynn have settled in Tooraweena.

Married at Hay
Andrew McIntyre (94-97) married Amanda Clark in Aman-da’s home town Hay and were married at Bishops Lodge on the 31st March 2007. Andrew and Amanda McIntyre will be living on the McIntyre family property at Narromine.

Lizzy Bennett farewelled
Miss Elizabeth Bennett, or Lizzy as she is better known, has had a long association with All Saints’ College. She joined the kitchen staff in 1986 and has played an important part since then in keeping staff and students well nourished. In those 21 years she has prepared and served countless meals for staff and students alike. She has managed to do this difficult job with a great deal of patience and good humour. A testimony to Lizzy’s good hearted nature is the rapport she has held with both students and staff. From the smallest child in Transition to the most senior students and staff, they all admired and respected Lizzy. If you ever needed cheering up a conversation with her was sure to brighten your day, and more often than not you were told a joke to take away with you.

Lizzy’s sense of humour and wonderful singing voice have been a great source of enjoyment to everybody over the years. Many has been the time that she has belted out a rendition of Happy Birthday in her own inimitable style over the dining room PA system, just to make that special day for staff and students that little bit more special.

The kitchen/dining area has had many changes in recent years but Lizzy has been the one constant you could always rely on for a smile and a chat.

She will be best remembered for her sense of humour and wonderful singing voice. Anyone who has had the pleasure of hearing Lizzy sing will never forget it. The dining room will not be the same without her and we wish her well for the future.

Julie Crawford-Smith farewell
It is with much sadness that we farewell Julie, affectionately referred to as Jules or the skinny one by all the students. Julie started working at All Saints’ in January 2002 and has played a large role in the many changes that have occurred in the clinic. Julie’s passion for the well being of not only the students but all of the All Saints’ community was evident to all who know her.

Caring was a natural gift of Julie’s. The extra time she spent with the troubled/homesick or just plain spirited student will be sorely missed.

Many times Julie welcomed students into her home and treated them as part of her large ever-growing family. Julie’s professionalism and dedication was evident in the many friendships she has made both in the school and wider community.

We all thank Julie for her dedication and wish her, Colin and their family every happiness and best of luck for the future.

Old Letter
This old letter was written by R. Garden Edgell from Esrom in 1903 to his son Max.

Dear Max,

McTaylor brought me your nice letter. I took him out in the canoe when he had a good day, and this is what he did:

We had rabbit pie afterwards. McTaylor has a very good vote and he is going for a long ride from Mudgeree after he goes away from here.

We all went to see the new house today, it is very nearly finished now. Mum does not like her very much. Broughton and Bob went to the circus and saw all the animals, the made a great noise.

They came out with us in the today and McTaylor sat in the back seat with them but I have not taken them out to shoot rabbits.

Goodbye Max dear I hope you have been helping Granpa.

Much love from Mummy and Daddy.
